NOTABLE MARRIAGE.

Gov. J. C. W. Beckham and Miss Jean Fuqua at Owensboro.

Miss Fuqua is Said to be Unusually Handsome and Attractive Young Lady.

The marriage of Gov. J. C. W. Beckham to Miss Jean Fuqua, of Owensboro, will take place tomorrow from the First Presbyterian church, of Owensboro.

It will, perhaps, be the most noble wedding that has ever taken place there, both on account of the fact that the groom is the Governor of the State and because the bride is one of the most beautiful and popular young women in that section of Kentucky.

Miss Meme Smith, of Owensboro, will be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Misses Julie Knisern, of Chicago, Miriam Reynolds, of Rome, Ga., Olive Logan, of Shelbyville, Ky., and Olivia Stuart and Daisy Todd, of Owensboro. Capt. Yuley Beckham, brother of the Governor, from Shelbyville, will be the best man, and the groomsmen will be Messrs. Robt. Wickliffe, of New Orleans, Edgar Crawford, of Bardstown and Marc Stuart, Ham Fuqua and Col. Weir Griffith, of Owensboro.

Miss Fuqua's dress will be of crepe over white satin, trimmed with real lace and lilies of the valley.

The bridal party will leave for Chicago in the private car of W. B. Knisern, who is a brother-in-law of Gov. Beckham. From Chicago they will go to points West. Gov. Beckham will be inaugurated December 11, and after the inaugural ceremonies are over he and Mrs. Beckham will go to Florida for an extended visit.

GOES TO OWENSBORO.

In Gov. Beckham's Absence Senator Carter Will Officiate at Executive Office.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 18.—Gov. Beckham left here this evening for Owensboro. He was accompanied by Col. Percy Haly, Assistant Adjutant General of the State Guard.

President Lillard H. Carter, of the State Senate, will arrive here from Anderson county Wednesday evening and perform the duties of chief executive until Governor Beckham returns from his wedding tour.

CAUSED BY CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. Charlton Passes Away After Long Illness.

The wife of Mr. William Charlton died at her home on First street Saturday. She had been sick for some time and death was due to consumption. She was about 45 years old and leaves a husband and five children, all daughters.

Mrs. Charlton was a native of Tennessee and had been a member of the Baptist church for about twenty-five years.

The interment took place in the Hayes burying ground, four miles north-east of the city, Sunday.

BOTH IN JAIL.

Chances Slim for Early Hearing on Local Charge.

Will Franklin, col., who, with Charles Lillard, col., is charged with having burglarized Mr. M. D. Kelly's jewelry store one evening during the Elks fair here, has been captured by Missouri officers. Lillard was arrested shortly after the robbery and both are in jail at Springfield, Mo. Franklin and Lillard are held in Missouri on a charge of burglary in that state and it may be some time before they can answer the charge preferred here, as the Missouri authorities think they will make out a clear case against them.

NEW COUNCILMAN.

J. H. Eggleton Elected to the Seventh Ward Vacancy.

The Council Once More Has a Democratic Major-ity.

The vacancy in the Seventh ward that has existed for some time was filled Saturday night at the council meeting by the election of Mr. J. H. Eggleton as councilman for the unexpired term of thirteen and a half months.

The resignation of the Republican member left the council made up of 3 Democrats, 2 Independents and 1 Republican. It was expected that the attempt to elect a councilman would result in a tie that would give the deciding vote to the mayor, but this was averted. There was also a vacancy in the position of city teamster and as a compromise measure this position was given to a Republican and Councilman Glass, the Republican member, voted with the Democrats to elect Mr. Eggleton. He received four votes on the first ballot and his election was then made unanimous. The new councilman at once qualified and took part in the subsequent elections.

Jordan Barker, col., who was for many years city teamster, was elected to his old position. Seeing the drift of things, the two Independents voted with the others and Barker received seven votes.

J. M. Cravens was elected to succeed J. M. Byrnes and W. E. Shanklin to succeed Booth Morris, resigned, on the police force. Both are staunch Democrats and officer Cravens has had several years' experience, during which he made one of the best policemen the city ever had. His return to the force will add greatly to its efficiency. Mr. Shanklin is also a very capable man, who has had some experience as a special policeman.

Before adjournment Councilman Eggleton announced that he would "set up" a supper to the council and other officials, at Schmitt's restaurant. The banquet come off with covers laid for fifteen and the best of feeling prevailed.

UNDER HEAVY BOND.

One Defendant Was Placed—Other Court Matters.

Joseph Torian, a colored boy about 13 years old, was held over to the grand jury. Bond was fixed at $250. He failed to furnish same and was sent to jail. Torian got in a row with some white children Saturday and stabbed Evans McPherson, aged ten. McPherson's injuries are not of a serious nature, although he was cut on both shoulders.

Ed. Decker was fined $10 and costs on a charge of breach of the peace.

Steven Haynes, disorderly conduct, was fined one cent and the costs. A fine of $4 addition was also registered against him for contempt of court.

O. Dollins, breach of the peace, fined $10.

F. M. Dollins, disorderly conduct, fined $10.

George Almy, on a plea of guilty of disorderly conduct, was fined $5.

Tom Ferguson, disorderly conduct, fined $20 and trimmings.

John Shoulders was required to pay bond for $500 to keep the peace for twelve months, on account of having threatened the life of his wife.

Dr. Oldham Moves.

Dr. J. E. Oldham, Osteopath, has removed from the corner of 14th and Liberty streets to the corner of 10th and Clay in the Methodist parsonage, where he can be found by his patients.

Attorney John D. Hill has returned from Dawson.

HAND CLIPPED

From Arm and Hand through Air Fifty Feet.

The Christian County Hunting Club left last week for their annual hunt in Arkansas after having deferred their trip one week, on account of a report to the effect that disease prevailed among the deer. A thorough investigation disclosed the fact that this story was unfounded. They anticipate both a pleasant and successful hunt, as big game is reported to be abundant this season. It is said that bear is more plentiful than for years.

A horrible accident occurred at Sharpe, says the Dover, Tenn., Record. Jink Herndon, an employee at a saw mill, belonging to Dr. J. H. Scarboro, was setting head blocks and approached too near the saw when he was caught and his hand clamped from his right arm and hurled through the air a distance of fifty feet. Two fingers were cut from the left hand and another so badly injured that it will perhaps have to be taken off. It is believed that he will get well.

ARRANGING THE DETAILS.

Citizens of Frankfort Are preparing for the Inauguration.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15.—The Democratic officials and citizens of the state capital are already beginning to prepare for the inauguration into office of Gov. Beckham on Tuesday, December 11 next. Had Mr. Yerkes been elected to office he would have taken the oath before that time, as the vacancy is filled as soon as the certificate of the election commission is issued, but as the young executive is to succeed himself, he will be inaugurated on the day fixed for the induction into office of a new Governor, the fifth Tuesday after his election. Committees will be selected next week to arrange the details of the inauguration, which it is proposed will be on a larger scale than any that has preceded it.

JOSEPHINE FRITZ.

Convicted in Uniontown, Released From Prison on Parole.

The State Prison Commissioners have granted a parole to Josephine Fritz, of Union county, who was serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for murder. The parolee recalls a notable case. The woman was convicted in April, 1885, of complicity with Moses Caton in the murder of Caton's wife. Caton was hanged for the crime. The evidence against the woman was circumstantial and her parole was asked for by the trial judge, the attorneys and many prominent people of the county of Union.

ELOPED TO ILLINOIS.

Virgil D. Presnell and Miss Lula Landrum, of Smithland, Married.

Smithland, Ky., Nov. 14.—Quite a sensation was created by the marriage of Mr. Virgil D. Presnell, aged nineteen years, and Miss Lula Landrum, aged seventeen. They went to Golconda, Ill., and were married. Both are salesmen. The groom is a salesman in his father's grocery establishment and is a brother-in-law of State Superintendent McChesney. The bride is one of the most beautiful girls in the county and is the daughter of County clerk Geo. W. Landrum.

DELAWARE'S VOTE.

McKinley Carries the State By 3,601 Plurality.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 14.—The complete official vote of Delaware for President: McKinley, 22,457; Bryan, 18,856; McKinley's plurality, 3,601. Four years ago the plurality for McKinley was 3,716.

The Prohibition ticket received 547 votes, and the social Democratic ticket 57. Total vote 41,907.

Bowling Green's Religious Census.
A religious census has been completed in Bowling Green. There are 1,666 persons who are not in any church. The membership of the various churches is as follows: Baptist 754, Methodist 643, Roman Catholic 510, Cumberland Presbyterian 324, Presbyterian 198, Christian 212, Episcopal 86, Seventh Day Adventists, 10, Jewish 29. Total 2,841.

FINE SPORT IN INDIA.

Tiger Shooting Has a Terrible Escalation for Hunters Who Are Fond of Braving Danger.

It is on record that a former and famous viceroy of India gave to a newly-jointed Indian civil servant, in whom he was deeply interested, some sound advice: "If you wish to succeed in India, learn to shoot well, to hunt tigers, and devote your spare time to tiger shooting, to pig-sticking, to polo, or to cricket, according to where you may find yourself stationed; but devote it to one of them." London Daily Mail and Times says: "Long Live Black and White is tiger shooting. From the day when first the adventurous Britisher, with his sporting instinct, went out to the Indies to serve in Company to the present time this sport has been looked upon as the king of field sports. The terrible fascination of facing a foe that has by nature been made physically strong by the law of the jungle, and who is worthy of the name of sportsman, and the delight of pitting against mere brute strength and savagery the cool, unflinching nerve, the deliberate calculation and the weapons of precision, which are the products of training, intelligence, and skillful facilities appeals to all. As a rule, the tiger is by nature a coward, who must be sought by wiles and strategy; he does not take to human prey, except when through old age he is unable to catch the more active members of the animal world; but when cornered, when attacking the cubs, or avenging their death, the tiger is of all animals the most relentless and the most cunning in its onslaught. Endowed by nature with every gift that can assist the hunting carnivora, it is the prey of them all, of all the beasts that man can meet in mortal conflict. To be a successful tiger shot requires not only the most unerring ability with the rifle, but a nervous system completely under control, a courage born of the knowledge that as a last resort, to a tiger trained in no other form of sport, and a personal bravery which rises superior even to that shown on a field of battle, when excitement of the moment and feverish desire for blood will often string up the courage of the most courageous hearted of the tiger's valor. Extraordinarily it would be fatal as cowards, it is rare, indeed, that a photograph can be taken from life in the natural jungle of a wounded tiger crouching to spring with deadly intent. Yet such is the picture above, which was taken from the back of an elephant during a tiger hunt.

TIGER ABOUT TO SPRING.
(Unique Snapshot, Taken from the back of an Elephant.)

The Light of the World, or Our Savior in Art.

Cost nearly $100,000 to procure. Contains nearly 100 small pages containing copies of Biblical and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hillsides. Contains description of the painting, biography of the painter, and history of the galleries in Europe where the originals may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book matches in every purity and beauty, appeal to every reader's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A Christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Curiosities presents. Mrs. White, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $30,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet finished paper, beautifully bound with Calfskin and Elles. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century.

AN ARAB'S PARLOR.

Woman Traveler in Egypt Is Amazed at the Death of Household Goods.

A woman traveler in Egypt is amazed at the death of the native's household goods. There is little furniture, because the Arab needs little. His life is spent out of doors and he can sleep in any handy gutter as peacefully and happily as a child, while most of his meals are eaten in the open air.

In one exceptionally luxurious house, that of a charwoman, the traveler found a parlor. It was regarded as a sort of shrine by Fatima. She had made it a fetish, devoting it to its embellishment all the money she could spare and sacrificing to it even her children's wants. The visitor was shown through a broken-down doorway into a squall passage where two rooms at either end revealed perspectives of greater splendor beyond. On the narrow creaks of a staircase, on the tiny landing, everywhere, one met fowls, kids and pigeons. The donkey remained at the foot of the stairs, but the children teemed from every entrance.

Arrived at the holy of holies, the door had to be unlocked. It was a brand-new Birmingham lock; distant Manchester had supplied a carpet blazing with roses and small creton curtains of brilliancy to match. Such things are in Cairo called "fellow" (vulgar), as none but fellahs are found to be purchasers of them, but poor Fatima's horrors are not yet quite catalogued. From some common shop in the Muski she had captured two or three glass vase and in them—the last touch of triumph—were artificial flowers. The little room was in nothing Arabian, but was in everything completely Brummagem. While contemplating her sanctum the children from below had crept up stealthily, they had collected behind the visitor in the doorway and had seated themselves in wide-eyed wonder on the doorstep. Dirty darlings, their pleasure was of short duration. Fatima no sooner perceived them than off came a shoe. With it she struck vigorously any part she could touch of their dodging little persons and soon routed the band, some half dozen of which were her own.—Chicago News.

A VERY OBLIGING TAILOR.

Administered a Well-Deserved Rebuke to a Customer with His Ready Chalk.

A well-known London tailor was spending his holiday at a seaside resort, and one morning on the pier he met a customer. "Good morning," said the latter. "Good morning, sir," replied the tailor, who then passed on. "Stay just a minute, I want to show you this coat," replied the other; "it would be fatal as cowards." It is rare, indeed, that a photograph can be taken from life in the natural jungle of a wounded tiger crouching to spring with deadly intent. Yet such is the picture above, which was taken from the back of an elephant during a tiger hunt.

The tailor was a man of ready wit. He stopped, looked carefully at the coat, and then drawing a piece of chalk from his pocket, said:

"You are right; the coat wants to be taken in here, and let out there, and shortened here, and just a bit lengthened there"; and at each "here" and "there" he made a heavy chalk-mark.

"Now," he continued, as he saw a curious crowd had gathered round, "if you will just take that coat up to London, marked as it is, my manager will see that it is altered to your satisfaction."

The tailor, who did not like to have his holiday thus interrupted by business, had adopted this method to mark his displeasure. The customer lost no time in hailing a cab and driving to his hotel, where the chalk was soon rubbed off—London Tit-Bits.

"Music Hath Charms."

The unusual ear came into painful prominence at a recent gay gathering. The programme included a choice assortment of instrumental efforts and musical accomplishments that were supposed to be of the highest order. Among the numbers was a duet between the professor and one of his pupils. Each had the exclusive use of a piano, and the way they denied and crashed would have made Padrewick, could he have heard them rush to the nearest barber shop and shave off his personality.

When the concert was over and the audience was filing out, a demure young lady, referring to this particular number, remarked to her escort:

The Lion of Lucerne.

Travelers who go to Lucerne are always interested to see the Lion of Lucerne, a figure of a lion hewn out of a rock on the side of a high cliff which borders a small park. Beneath is a sheet of water in which the lion is mirrored as in a glass. It is of colossal size, a spear in its side showing where it is wounded, yet with death so near it strives to protect a shield bearing the fleur-de-lis of the Bourbons, which it holds in its paw. Thorwaldsen was the sculptor, and the "Lion of Lucerne" is a monument to the Swiss guard which perished at Paris August 10, 1792, in defense of the Tuilleries. Louis XVI. had forbidden the Swiss guard to fire upon the mob, but the 900 men composing it dared to do so in defense of the palace. The infuriated mob massacred every one of them. Upon the shield which the lion holds are the names of the brave men who were officers of the guard.

When the concert was over and the audience was filing out, a demure young lady, referring to this particular number, remarked to her escort:

"Oh, dear, I can't see why people can't do their tuning up at home!"—Detroit Free Press.

Railroad Construction in Asia Minor.

The controversy in regard to railroad construction in Asia Minor has been settled for the present by a concession granted to the Anatolia Railway company. This German company, it is understood, will extend its present line, which terminates at Karsaba, via Marash and Bagdad to Basra. The opposition, led by the French company owning the Smyrna-Karsaba road, which extends east as far as Adon Karahissar, was removed by granting this company 40 per cent. of the share in the extension, and the local objection was obviated by a provision in the contract giving the Turkish government the right to purchase the line at any time.

Few railroad lines can be of greater prospective importance than this 2,000 miles of railroad uniting the Persian gulf with Europe, forming a rapid transit to and from the east, opening up the tracts of agricultural country and paving the way for German commercial supremacy in Asia Minor and Mesopotamia.

The opposition, led by the French company owning the Smyrna-Karsaba road, which extends east as far as Adon Karahissar, was removed by granting this company 40 per cent. of the share in the extension, and the local objection was obviated by a provision in the contract giving the Turkish government the right to purchase the line at any time.

Few railroad lines can be of greater prospective importance than this 2,000 miles of railroad uniting the Persian gulf with Europe, forming a rapid transit to and from the east, opening up the tracts of agricultural country and paving the way for German commercial supremacy in Asia Minor and Mesopotamia.

It is not difficult to see how Germany, with preferential rights for goods on German lines, will be able to control transportation companies; technical, scientific and industrial societies and syndicates; and individuals who have slight interest in the organization, before the opening of the session, intention of becoming members. The programme comprises the following:

FIRST SECTION—INLAND NAVIGATION, WORKS.

First Question.—Effect of regulating the regime of rivers. (To show especially the effect of these works upon inundations.)

Second Question.—Progress made in mechanical applications to the feeding canals.

SECOND SECTION—INLAND NAVIGATION, OPERATIONS.

Third Question.—Utilization of natural navigable waterways of restricted depth above their maritime section. (Methods of operation and kinds of boats of light draft used in these sections, especially of application to the colonies.)

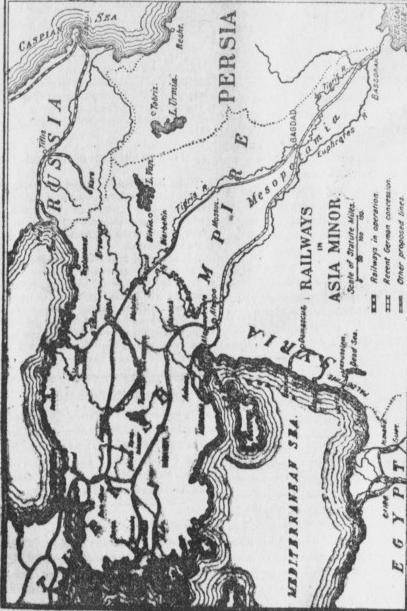

Fourth Question.—Progress made in the regulation of rivers and the navigation of navigable waterways. Privileged navigation companies.

Fifth Question.—Institutions to pension and instruct the personnel of the boat crews.

THIRD SECTION—MARITIME NAVIGATION, WORKS.

Sixth Question.—The latest improvements in lighting and buoying coasts and harbor entrances.

Seventh Question.—The most recently most important works in the principal countries or maritime ports.

FOURTH SECTION—MARITIME NAVIGATION, OPERATIONS.

Fifth Question.—The obligation to be given to ports and the coastwise steamship service.

Sixth Question.—Obligation to be given to the principal ports and the principal maritime ports.

Seventh Question.—Progress in mechanical applications to the planks and other furniture of the ports.

A STRANGE FRIENDSHIP.

Lump, a Collie Dog of Unknown Ancestry, is the Stepfather of a Family of Kittens.

"Lump" is the stepfather of four shaggy little kittens. In fact, they are nearly eats by now. The relationship of Lump to these kittens is the thing that attracts attention among all who know about it. It occasions surprise and even scandal among the cats and dogs of the neighborhood. The secret of the weird moon and the parents is that Lump and his stepchildren do not move in the 400 circle of either canine or feline society. Despite all these queer things, however, the great love in this queer family grows stronger. The existence of this affliction is nearly unknown outside Lump's den. He is heard now and then, but he is not seen. The secret of the love between the dog and cat race is, it is the fighting instinct of the dog. Therefore, if Lump had possessed any other than a good disposition he could have been accommodated with all kinds of fighting when he first entered the house when he first entered the house.

First Question.—Effect of regulating the regime of rivers. (To show especially the effect of these works upon inundations.)

Second Question.—Progress made in mechanical applications to the feeding canals.

Third Question.—The latest improvements in lighting and buoying coasts and harbor entrances.

OSPREY AND ITS YOUNG.

Watchfulness Over Their Nests a Boon to Other Birds.

The watchfulness of the fishhawks over their nests before the young leave the shell is a great boon to other smaller birds. A singular trait in the character of the osprey is its toleration of sparrows, crow-blackbirds and grackles to build their nests in among the outer sticks of which its own nest is constructed. Like vassals to a chief, these smaller birds lay eggs and hatch them in perfect security, and in mutual harmony with the larger feathered creatures. Often there are from 20 to 30 nests of small birds in the rounded outer sides of the fish hawk's nest. From long acquaintance with the fish, the sparrows and crow-blackbirds have no fear of them, and they have learned that as the fish hawk during incubation constantly is on guard, their nests are doubly secure from feathered intruders, and from the inroads of the common crow, the bird that they most fear when their nests contain eggs.

When the young fish hawks come forth from the shell, the constant guard of the nest by the male and female is gradually relaxed. The female leaves the nest at intervals in quest of food, soon flying back with a fish caught in harbor or bay. A noticeable feature about the mother hawk is her mode of feeding the young. Returning with a shad or porcupine, when the young are only a few days old, she actually puts aside enough of her dignity to rub against Lump. Thus began the friend-

Lump soon got in the habit of going down to the shoe store and spending part of the day there. He found the old shoe store cat. He didn't show any desire to make things unpleasant, and the cat gradually grew to like him. Although an old cat, she actually put aside enough of her dignity to rub against Lump. Thus began the friendship that has since ripened into love, to use the expression of famous novelists.

Before this love became so undying, the cat found herself the mother of four little kittens. Despite her great fondness for Lump she had much doubt about his intentions when he began poking around the box where the kittens lay. The mother promptly arched her back and made ready to snap Lump if he became too bold. He slipped away and then approached her and a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He expressed his great solicitude for the cat mother and actually went away and got a piece of meat for them. This pleased the mother, and in a short time after the little lump had been adopted by Lump as stepfather. The most remarkable things are told of his paternal deeds.

To divide meat with the little kittens was nothing unusual. Lump made up his mind that the kittens should never be alone. He seemed to know that the kittens were becoming weak. So when the old cat went out to get a little fresh air, Lump would take her place and be in the box with them or remain near. He allowed them to scratch his nose with their sharp little claws and to sport around him in the merryest fashion. Some of the other pets in the house thought Lump was a bit of a hero. One day the old mother cat was sick and could not get up. The neighbors who had not utterly repudiated her, and Lump was looking out for the kittens. A man who wanted a pair of shoes went into the store and with him a big bulldog. The brutal dog began smelling around, and before Lump thought about it was at the door. The bulldog started to snap at Lump, but Lump was upon him. The big dog then attacked Little Lump and there was a fierce fight. When the store people got the big dog away little Lump was hardly able to stand, but he crawled back to the cat box, and the bulldog followed him. Lump gave the poor animal a whack and fled into the box. He was a badly wounded dog, but everybody treated him well, and he's now with the cat and kittens again. The kittens do all kinds of undignified things with him, but he just looks solemn and says nothing. Out of the corners of his eyes he keeps a warm lookout for mean dogs and bad boys.—Washington Star.

One of the county election comment that fraud of the rankest sort was resorted to in the late turnpike election. It seems to be the will of our citizens that these frauds be exposed, and with this end in view a committee has been appointed to

I. C. INSPECTION.

Millionaires Take A Trip Over The Road.

The Ohio Valley division of the Illinois Central railway was inspected last week. A special car with several officials on board was in the city last week. A special car with several officials on board was in the city Saturday, having made an inspection of the line between here and Princeton. At the latter place a long special train of magnificent palace cars was in the L. C. Friday night, in which were President Stuyvesant Fish,
John Jacob Astor and a dozen other multi-millionaires whose aggregate wealth was said to exceed $500, 000,000. The party spent the afternoon and night there inspecting the Illinois Central's property. They went to Louisville Saturday afternoon and from that city returned to Chicago over the Monon.

A Village Blacksmith Saved His

Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has a ways been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult, both morning and evening and the meeting is being largely attended.

HOPKINSVILLE IS 10th

In the List of Cities of the State.

Census Credits the City of Hopkinsville With a Population of 7,280.

Hopkinsville's population, as officially announced, was on June 15, 1900, 7,280. The figures in 1890 were 5,833 and the increase of 24.5 per cent is the highest shown by any fourth-class city. Hopkinsville ranks tenth among the cities of the State and is crowding Bowling Green for ninth place.

Christian county's population is put at 37,962 and we yield fifth place to Daviess in the list of counties.

SOLDIERS RETURN.

Joe Lanier and Hugh Griffin Back From Manila.

Fruit Hill, Nov. 17.—Farmers are through gathering corn in this vicinity and it is a very short crop.

Mrs. Mildred Martin was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. E. West, last Saturday and Sunday.

W. S. Barnes is on the sick list at this writing.

R. H. C. Beckette will begin a series of meetings at this place Thursday night, Nov. 15.

Messrs Joe Lanier and Hugh Griffin returned home from the Phillipine Islands, last Tuesday, their times having expired. They will make their future homes in Kentucky.

The protracted meeting closed at Hickory Withe last Sunday night. It seems like they didn't have very good success.

Miss Maud West spent several days in Crofton last week attending a meeting conducted by Revs. Shina and Beckette. Fruir Hill.

BY COUNTIES.

Population Of The Small Cities Of The State.

Hopkinsville Leads The Fourth Class But Has Under 8000.

Washington, Nov. 15.—The population of the State of Kentucky, according to the official count of the returns of the twelfth census, is 2,147,174, as against 1,858,635 in 1890. These figures show an increase in the population of the State since 1890 of 288,549, or 15.5 per cent. ## AN INDIAN ARSENAL.

Over Two Thousand Arrowheads Found Buried Under A Stone.

Among the collections of Indian relics owned in this state probably the finest, with one exception, is owned by Herbert Southmayd, who lives on the Haddam Quarter road, in the town of Durham, say the Chester (Conn.) correspondent of the Hartford Courant. A large part of them were found by Mr. Southmayd himself, as he is a keen relic hunter and knows many of the caves and camping grounds used by the tribes of this state. White flint, black flint, rose quartz, red and yellow jasper, limestone and glass stone were the stones used in the manufacture of 3,000 arrowheads varying from the size of a thumbnail to those nearly as large as a hand. His axes include the fine-edged, highly-polished tool to the rough, unfinished specimens. He has 30 of these, one of which weighs seven pounds, while the smallest scales at the 16 ounces.

Of his 11 pestles the longest measures 14 inches in length. Gouges used by the Indians in working out the inside of logs which they had first charred, in making their canoes, number 20. There are ten, five specimens of adze and 12 chisels. Of his three pipes the one he values most highly is a short stemmed, perfectly bowed, and was found a few miles from his home. It looks much like a common clay pipe of to-day, excepting the color, which is that of red clay. The breastplates are notched around the edges, a notch for each battle the wearer was engaged in. One of them can be counted 65 notches, denoting either a chieftain or one much given to fighting.

There are three war club heads, and a dozen hide scrapers, used in cleaning the hides from which their clothing and tents were made. Among the most interesting specimens is the ordinary man and which cause a peculiar sensation as their use is explained are the three scalping knives. A string of wampum was taken from a skeleton found in Portland. A red clay kettle is absolutely perfect. A bone ornament found in a cove is considered very valuable, as but few of them are in existence. The drills used for making the holes for the leather thongs in their moccasins and skin canoes show great skill and patience, as they are nothing but stones with which they tapered these from about the size of a pencil down to a sharp point. Of these he has 15.

Broad arrowheads and a quiver divide honors with iron tomahawks. During a rainstorm a year or two ago Walter Lane sought shelter under a shelving rock at North Guilford, and while stirring the ground up to ascertain what depth had been made by the decay of leaves he was surprised to find an arrowhead. Renewed effort brought out 35 of them. Returning the next day with spade and sieve, he dug out 1,200 specimens, and from evidences found it was doubtless a spot where they were made and laid away against the time of need. Over 2,000 have been taken from that spot.

KIND QUEEN MARGHERITA.

An American Writes How She Has Dedicated Herself to Her Italian People.

An American woman abroad says: "Queen Margherita is, in the parlance of her Alpine subjects, 'our kind queen,' with a strong emphasis on the adjective. She charms every one with whom she comes in contact. A little housemaid in the mountain hostelry of Casa Yanzo, where the queen stopped on two of her excursions from Grezzoney, said: 'The queen passed my cheek. Just how friendly is our kind queen! She is far more affable than even her lady in waiting.'

"The kind queen" heard of a peasant girl who had met with an accident and broken her leg. Forthwith her majesty dispatched a messenger with inquiries and a present, and a promise of a carriage to convey the doctor and patient to the nearest hospital, which was a whole day's drive from where the accident happened. In one of her long walks Queen Margherita passed the charred remains of the hamlet of San Antonio. She made instant inquiries as to the condition of the burned-out families, and the result was that each family received a $20 note from the queen—a veritable fortune to a foreigner who had been helpful to some Italian peasants whose industry is as great as their poverty, the queen devised an enchanting surprise, making the stranger the channel of the royal bounty to a number of Piedmontese toilants. These are random but typical instances of the queen's tactful kindness." —Philadelphian Record.

THE WILY CHINEE.

Mongolians in the United States All from the South and "Good Boys."

"I would be willing to bet a house to a houseful," said an observant citizen, "that you can't discover a native of North China in this country at present with 40 search warrants. Ever since the eastern situation became serious, our Mongolian residents have been wearing out their larynxes in assuring the public that they come from the immediate neighborhood of Hong-Kong, on the extreme south coast, and wouldn't know a boxer from a buzz saw. According to their statements the South China man, or Cantonese, and the North China man, or Manchurian, have nothing in common except pigtails and bias eyes. The Cantonese is a good boy, who goes to mission Sunday school, minds his teacher, loves the Melican man, does on tracts and never holds out collars in the week's wash. The Manchurian, on the contrary, is a tough citizen. He plays fan-tan, he likes the pip when he never eats rats, tries firecrackers to policemen's coats and likes missionaries—boiled. There are no Manchurians in the United States. Our Chinese colonies are composed exclusively of virtuous Cantonese. Moreover, the two tribes speak different languages. If a Manchurian were to say: 'Come, Hop Luns led a stroll and try a few missions,' the chances are that Hop would think he was being invited to attend a church sociable and would go under an entire misapprehension as to the character of the entertainment. Consequently Hop would be innocent of wrong. I dare say all this is perfectly true, and the zeal with which the Chinese all over the country are pressing their disclaimers is certainly interesting. The bare mention of Peking makes their pigtails stand on end. The other day a very meek, fat Chinaman called at my house for some washing. I wasn't sure he belonged to the right laundry, and I said: "John, do you come from North?" I intended to say North Rampart street, but he cut me short. "No! no!" he shrieked, piteously, "me no clun floo! No! Me South Chinese boy—all same good boy! Me no Blox—me Canton boy—" And he got incoherent and made a bolt for the door. I haven't seen him since." —N. O. Times-Democrat.

Agent Wanted.

The Planters' Insurance Company, of Bowling Green, Ky., wants a traveling agent for Christian county. This company has Christian county's largest farmers insured. Give reference when writing.

P. C. JESSE, Secretary.

SCRAP AT CASKY.

One Case Set for To-Day—Other Tried Yesterday.

Massie Bronaugh, col., persisted in smoking cigarettes in the store of Mr. A. A. Winfree, at Casky, although Mr. Winfree had asked him not to do so. When ordered out he refused to go and Mr. John Bayham, salesman for Mr. Winfree, then took the matter up. A fight followed in which Mr. Bayham was struck on the forehead, a long gash being cut to the bone.

The negro was also struck on the head with an axe-handle. Bronaugh was tried here yesterday by a jury and acquitted. Mr. Bayham's trial is set for to-day before Esq. W. L. Parker.

What to Give.

The trouble around Christmas time is to know what to give, and, if the present is not to be bought, how to make it. The Delinicator for December is full of Christmas suggestions. Several pages are devoted to holiday fancy work with illustrations, also to the latest designs in crocheting, drawn work, and modern lace making. Puddings, cakes and Christmas candies likewise come in for attention in the December Delinicator.

Cut Down Premiums.

Rodman Meacham sent four of his Barred Plymouth Rocks to the Alabama State Poultry Show at Birmingham and captured three out of a possible four prizes in a very strong class, meeting many of the best birds in the South. He got 1st on hen and 2nd and 3rd on pullets. No males were shown.

Rev. Geo. F. Pentecost, D. D., of Yonkers, N. Y., preached at the First Presbyterian church Sunday, pleased a very large audience. He is one of the finest pulpit orators who has ever visited Hopkintonville.

Company D. will meet to-night to make arrangements for attending the Governor's inauguration Dec. 11.

BRIGHT LITTLE DAUGHTER.

Of Mr. John Davis Dies Of Pneumonia Fever.

Little Mabel Lovely Davis, aged two years six months and fifteen days, died last Saturday evening at the home of its parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, near the city. Pneumonia, followed an attack of whooping cough, caused her death. She was a very bright child, the idol of a large circle of friends and endeared to the parents.

The interment took place in the family burying ground Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
